Illinois Man Is Nominated For President by Prohibition Convention.

WATKINS IS SELECTED
TO WORK WITH CHAFIN

Palmore Was First Nominated for Vice President, but St. Louis Man Declined, and Then Professor Watkins, of Ohio, Was Drafted.

This ticket was nominated today by the prohibitionists' national convention and both nominations were made unanimous. The full indorsement of the convention was not, however, given to Mr. Chafin, until after three ballots had been taken.

On the first two ballots Mr. Chafin did not show a great amount of strength, receiving but 195 out of 1,083 votes on the first and 376 out of 1,087 on the second ballot. His nomination was assured, however, when the roll call began for the third ballot. His own state, which had voted largely for Daniel R. Sheen, of Peoria, and the New Palmore Declined Second Place.

The strongest competitor of Mr. Chafin was Rev. William B. Palmore, of St. Louis, who received 274 votes on the first ballot, and a comparatively small vote after it was evident that the nomination of Mr. Chafin could not be prevented.

It was then decided to make Mr. Palmore the vice presidential nominee, and he was named by acclamation. He declined to accept the office, however, and persisted in his attitude, despite the strong urging of his friends. The convention became involved in a deep parliamentary tangle. The rules were several times suspended, and the suspension of the president was asked.

Finally, it was decided that Professor Aaron S. Watkins, of Ada, Ohio, should

Finally, it was decided that Professor Aaron S. Watkins, of Ada, Ohio, should be named by acclamation. There was no opposition to him at the moment, and Chairman Charles Scanlon was on the verge of declaring Professor Watkins elected. But the delegates from the various parts of the hall broke in with a flood of motions, amendments and suspensions of the rules.

Watkins for Second Place.

An extended debate finally resulted in the restoration of the rules and in a ballot for the vice presidency, three men were named, Professor Watkins, T. E. Holler, of Kentucky, and Charles S. Holler, of Indiana. The ballot resulted in the nomination of Professor Watkins by an overwhelming majority, and he was immediately thereafter, upon motion of the Kentucky delegation, elected the unanimous choice of the convention.

Both the president and vice presidential nominees are candidates for governor in their respective states on the prohibition tickets.

HEARST REFUSES TO TAKE BRYAN

Editor Makes a Statement as to His Attitude.

DEMOCRACY IS ATTACKED

And Bryan Is Likened to a Chameleon That Changes Color of Opinion With Every Varying Hue of Opportunism.

New York, July 16.—A cablegram has been received from William Randolph Hearst, in reply to a message transmitted to Mr. Hearst from Samuel Gompers, stating that in view of the democratic stand for labor it would be "an act of greatest patriotism for the independence party to indorse the democratic platform," and urging him not to run a third ticket, as it would elect Mr. Taft.

Mr. Hearst's cablegram follows:

Paris, July 13.—Tell Mr. Gompers that I am not authorized to speak for the membership of the Independence League, but according to my personal opinion, the purpose of the party consists in laboring to establish a new party.

which will be consistently devoted to the interests of the citizenship, and particularly to the advantage and advancement of the producing classes. I do not think the path of patriotism lies in supporting a discredited and decadent old party, which has neither conscientious conviction nor honest intention, or in indorsing chameleon candidates who change the color of their political position with every varying hue for opportunism.

laboring men lies in supporting that old party because of a sop of false promises, when the performance of that party while in power did more to injure labor than all the injunctions ever issued before or since. I have lost faith with this party, because it is not a regenerate democracy. I have lost confidence in the ability, in the sincerity, and even in the integrity of its leaders. I do not consider it patriotism to pretend to support that which, as a citizen, I distrust and detest, and I cannot possibly hope the acceptance of such a party will give me an opportunity to vote for candidates that are both able and

On St. Simons this afternoon, Grand Master Jeffrey made a speech in which he stated that the grand public work was to build a permanent home on St. Simons.

Appointment had in fact been tendered to Mr. James, who, in all probability, will accept, although he prefers to take the jump in Mr. Bryan's behalf.

Among the other callers were Herman H. Smith, of Washington, D. C., a labor leader; J. T. Callahan, of Holyoke, Mass., who was chairman of the committee on credentials of the convention; George J. Bryan, of New Hampshire, formerly of Omaha, and who conducted Mr. Bryan's campaign for a seat in congress, and F. E. Thomas, of Newark, Neb., a warm supporter of Mr.

candidate for governor of Wisconsin on the prohibition ticket, and was this year placed in the running for the same position in Illinois by the prohibitionists of that state.

The Platform.

The forenoon session of the convention was devoted to the discussion and adoption of a platform, which is probably the shortest on record, containing not more than 350 words. It is as follows:

"The prohibition party of the United States, assembled in convention at Columbus, Ohio, expressing gratitude to Almighty God for the victories of our principles in the past, for encouragement at present, and for confidence of early and triumphant success in the future, makes the following declaration of principles and pledges their enactment into law when placed in power.

"One. The submission by congress to the several states of an amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation or transportation of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes.

"Two. The immediate prohibition of the liquor traffic for beverage purposes in the District of Columbia, in the territories and in all places over which the national government has jurisdiction; the repeal of the internal revenue tax on alcoholic liquors and the prohibition of the interstate traffic therein.

"Three. The election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

"Four. Equitable graduated income and inheritance taxes.

"Five. The establishment of postal savings banks and the guaranty of deposits in banks.

"Six. The regulation of all corporations doing an interstate commerce business.

"Seven. The creation of a permanent tariff commission.

"Eight. The strict enforcement of law instead of the official tolerance and practical license of the social evil which prevails in many of our cities with its unspeakable traffic in girls.

"Nine. Uniform marriage and divorce laws.

"Ten. An equitable and constitutional employers liability act.

"Eleven. Court reviews of postoffice department decisions.

"Twelve. The prohibition of child labor in mines, workshops and factories.

"Thirteen. Legislation basing suffrage only upon intelligence and ability to read and write the English language.

"Fourteen. Preservation of the mineral and forest resources of the country and the improvement of the highways and waterways.

"Fifteen. In the righteousness of our cause and in the final triumph of our principles, and convinced of the unwillingness of the republican and democratic parties to deal with these issues, we invite to full party fellowship all citizens who are with us agreed."

Mrs. Nation Called Down.

When the clerk reached North Carolina in the roll call of states for the nomination of presidential candidates, at the afternoon session, the Old North state yielded to the District of Columbia, and a cheer went up as Mrs. Carrie Nation, who represented the District in the convention, was seen making her way to the platform.

She declared at the outset that the candidate must be a man who does not use tobacco, as well as one who is a prohibitionist. She named no candidate, and was finally called to order and forced to conclude abruptly.

BIRMINGHAM WATCHMAN WAS RIDDLED WITH SHOT

Was Instantly Killed in Front of Dupont Powder Company's Dynamite Works.

Birmingham, Ala., July 16.—J. B. Aderhold, night watchman at the Dupont Powder Company's dynamite works, near Mary Lee, several miles from Birmingham, and near the Alabama Consolidated Coal and Iron Company's mines, was instantly killed with shot and instantly killed shortly before midnight last night in front of the shipping office of the powder company. Coroner Paris is investigating.

Another watchman was near at the time but can tell little of the affair beyond the fact that four or five men came up to the place and Aderhold said, "Now, gentlemen, wait a minute, we will discuss that," and instantly there was shooting. When the smoke cleared, Aderhold was dead and the men had departed. For the past two or three nights Aderhold has been warning deputies around the mines to cease shooting promiscuously, claiming that there was danger about the magazines. A second warning is said to have been given and ill feeling was aroused. Aderhold is survived by a widow and four daughters.

J. W. Long and Theodore Rothblatt, two deputies, have been lodged in jail for the killing of Aderhold, pending the investigation by the coroner. A jury has been impaneled, union miners being on the same. The accused deny the charge.

TRIBUTE PAID TO GEN. LEE.

Letter Received from Dr. Burrage, Historian of Maine.

Jackson, Miss., July 16.—Director Dunbar Rowland, of the department of archives and history, is in receipt of a letter from Dr. Henry S. Burrage, historian of the state of Maine, asking for a copy of his sixth annual report.

In concluding his letter, Dr. Burrage pays the following tribute to General S. D. Lee, recently deceased:

"I also wish to say that I can well understand what a loss you have suffered in the death of General S. D. Lee. I was with Grant at Vicksburg. When the Massachusetts monument at Vicksburg was unveiled in 1903, General Lee was present and made an address as patriotic as it was forceful, it deeply stirred my heart, as I read it, and I sat down and wrote him, thanking him for his noble utterance. I still have his noble reply, God bless him! We cannot be too grateful that we have had such men."

Sure enough, the little box was valuable enough. It contained, among other things, $16.75 in money, a gold necklace, studs and ring, and was the property of Miss Lena Harris, of 185 Holgersen street, who is in charge of the millinery department of the store in question.

STANLEY AGAIN HEADS EDITORS

Douglas Was Selected for Next Year's Meeting of Georgia Editors.

Gainesville, Ga., July 16.—(Special).—The twenty-second annual session of the Georgia Weekly Press Association was concluded yesterday afternoon in Gainesville. About 150 members of the Georgia weekly press were in attendance. The carriage ride yesterday over the macadam road to the good roads plant was one of the most interesting features of the meeting. At the country home of Hon. W. B. Smith, the clerk of the commissioners having this work in charge, there was a watermelon cutting, with cakes, etc., spread before the visitors.

Adjournment was taken at noon yesterday for the barbecue, which was served in the grove adjoining the pavilion. This feature was in charge of Colonel Howard Thompson. The table was decorated with bunting and sunflowers, and was more than 100 feet in length. The table was laden with all the good things the epicurean could desire, the good women of Gainesville having in charge the delicacies.

Colonel W. C. Dodson, of the veteran printers' supply men of Atlanta, offered a resolution thanking the good women of Gainesville for the magnificent and munificent spread, which was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Colonel McCarty also offered a resolution thanking Colonel Howard Thompson and his committee for their efforts in preparing a barbecue, which was likewise unanimously adopted.

With Solicitor Timmerman.

Columbia, S. C., July 16.—(Special).—The state supreme court occupied the entire day and held a night session on the proceedings against John T. Duncan, who was ordered to show cause why he should not be disbarred on the charge that he presented a false affidavit in a criminal case.

One of the witnesses was Solicitor G. B. Timmerman, of Lexington, who came over after the funeral of his father and gave testimony as to the case before the fifth circuit was decided.

Mr. Duncan had charged that there was a conspiracy against him by a number of the solicitors. About twenty witnesses were put up by the state today to testify they would not believe Duncan on oath.

These included bank presidents and members of the Columbia bar. A decision will be reached some time tomorrow.

The case grew out of an attempt on the part of a client of Duncan's to resist arrest and his subsequent trial and conviction. Duncan's client, Jesse Hunter, a negro, fired on a posse sent to arrest him in January, 1908. In May of the same year Hunter was convicted. In the following September Duncan obtained an affidavit with the signature of another negro, Jeff Taylor, attached, in which the affiant took upon himself the whole blame for the shooting, declaring himself the guilty party. Duncan declared that when the affidavit was filed the solicitor, George Bell Timmerman, who convicted Duncan's client, stole it.

On June 2, 1908, Duncan presented to the supreme court an affidavit in which he declared that he was the victim of a "dark and damnable conspiracy." This affidavit was in answer to an order of the court directing him to prove the truth of the affidavit with Jeff Taylor's signature attached.

Jeff Taylor, who, Duncan affirmed, made the affidavit produced in court, swore that he had not signed it.

Duncan said on the stand that he said he was surprised when the solicitor denied, in the supreme court, having had service of the papers. It was then that the exchange of notes, for which Duncan is cited to appear, charged with contempt of court, occurred. In his note to the solicitor Duncan had charged Timmerman with being "a shiftless liar" as it had been his "misfortune" to meet "Mr. Timmerman had replied:

"I took that off a filthy character like you once before. I should lose my self-respect to be insulted by such cattle as you."

This is regarded as contempt of court, being of a nature to cause an outbreak in the presence of the court, where the notes were exchanged.

CHARLES G. KILPATRICK
BEATS JOHN M'GREGOR

Charles G. Kilpatrick, the one-legged cyclist, won by half a wheel's length the 1 mile race at the St. Nicholas rink at ponte de Leon last night from John M'Gregor, the champion cyclist of Canada. The race was timed in 2 minutes and 40 seconds. It was one of the most exciting races either of the participants had ever experienced or Atlanta spectators had ever witnessed. Kilpatrick, besides being handicapped with one leg missing, was given the outside track, and it was only within a few yards of the goal that he was able to push forward and win the race by only a few inches. Fully five hundred people witnessed the contest.

WATSON SPEAKS AT NASHVILLE

Tennessee Populist Convention Meets and Adopts a Platform.

Nashville, Tenn., July 16.—The people's party of Tennessee convened here in state convention at 10 o'clock this morning, with about seventy-five delegates in attendance. Temporary organization was effected this morning, with J. S. Leech, of Carroll county, as chairman. Committees were appointed by the chairman. In calling the convention to order, Mr. Leech said he saw before him unmistakable evidences that the darkness which had enshrouded the party for some time had passed, and a new era was about to dawn. He paid a high tribute to Hon. Thomas E. Watson, leader of the party and candidate for president, declaring that "under his leadership we are going to break the columns of the solid south and place Georgia in the ranks of the populists."

At the conclusion of Mr. Leech's remarks, Hon. Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, addressed the convention, arousing much enthusiasm among the delegates.

The platform as adopted indorses the platform of the national party made at St. Louis and pledges support to the nominees; favors the enactment by congress of the Hepburn-Doolittle bill or a similar measure prohibiting the importation of liquor into territory where its sale has been prohibited, and demands legislation against bucket-shops. As to the temperance question in the state the platform says:

"We point to the fact that the people of Tennessee were once on record for temperance laws before either of the other parties dared to put a positive declaration in their platforms on the subject, and we favor not only the laws now on the statute books prohibiting the sale of liquor, but we also favor the extension of present laws or the enactment of new laws as will drive it from the counties where now sold."

A. L. Mims and J. H. Farrar, of Crockett county, were chosen electors for the state-at-large.

Pleasure Launch Founders
Near Manila—Three Americans Victims.

Manila, July 16.—A pleasure launch, bound from Manila to Corregidor Island, carrying about seventy-five passengers, was caught in a typhoon today and foundered. It is believed twenty-five of the passengers, including three Americans, were drowned. The others, numbering about fifty, were picked up by the British steamer Suveric, which was passing close to the launch when it foundered.

The Suveric lowered boats immediately, and those together with boats from other crafts that came to the rescue, picked up the fifty passengers with much difficulty. It is reported an army surgeon is among the lost. Details of the disaster have not yet reached Manila. Corregidor Island is at the entrance of Manila bay.

L. P. COX MEETS DEATH AT HANDS OF O. E. RUTLAND

Victim Was Advancing on His Slayer With Hatchet in Hand.

WITNESSES SAY RUTLAND
SHOT IN SELF-DEFENSE

Shooting Took Place About 2 O'Clock in Rear of Paris Moving Picture
Theater, 100 Whitehall St.
Quarrel Between Cox
and John Rutland
Was Cause.

L. P. Cox, a roof repairer, living at 117 1-2 Whitehall street, was shot through the heart and instantly killed by O. E. Rutland, a railroad fireman, of West Point, Ga., yesterday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the rear of the Paris moving picture theater, at 100 Whitehall street. Cox is said to have been advancing on Rutland with a hatchet at the time the shot was fired. Immediately after the shooting Rutland gave himself up to the police, and Cox's body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Greenberg, Bond & Bloomfield. It will be sent to Jacksonville, Fla., for interment.

Cox was 57 years old, and Rutland is about 24. The shooting is said to have resulted from a quarrel between Cox and John W. Rutland, of Aragon, Ga., an elder brother of the man who used the pistol.

Cause of the Tragedy.
The tragedy was witnessed by probably a dozen people. Rutland, accompanied by his brother, John W. Rutland, of Aragon, Ga., had just come from lunch at Child's cafe, at 45 West Mitchell street, and stopped in the above named place. While conversing here, it is stated, they were accosted by Cox, who threatened John W. Rutland, the older of the two brothers. As the two were about to come together, a bystander separated them and proceeded toward the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell, and O. E. Rutland remaining in the theater.

Returning to his business at the Cable company, 98 Whitehall, after having finished dinner, C. M. Caldwell, who is employed at the music house, noticed Cox standing at the corner with a hatchet in his hand, and apparently very angry. "Hello, old man, how is it?" asked Caldwell, who says he had a speaking acquaintance with Cox.

"I am going to have some trouble with a man in there, and I want you to stand by me," Cox is said to have stated, as he uttered an oath.

Caldwell then remonstrated with Cox, taking him into Brannen's drug store, at the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell. Seeing he was determined, Caldwell then took him past the Paris theater and into the Cable company's store, where the two went to the rear of the store, and Cox was offered a chair.

While there Caldwell told Cox to wait a minute while he went upstairs. Before Caldwell returned he heard Cox walking rapidly out of the store. Hatchet in hand.

Say Cox Had a Hatchet.
Immediately he hurried after Cox, and just as he got to the front of the music store, he heard two shots.

Eye-witnesses to the tragedy say they saw Cox advance on Rutland with the hatchet, and that the latter backed toward the rear of the electric theater. According to Rutland's statement, Cox hit him on the temple after the first shot. A slight wound was perceptible.

After the second shot was fired the two men clinched, and Cox finally went down as the result of a wound through the heart. It is not known which shot took effect.

Just after the last shot had been fired, Rutland has good record.

West Point, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—Oscar E. Rutland has lived here for seven years, and was a young man of good moral character, and has never been known to be of a quarrelsome nature. He was connected with the West Point Iron Works for several years, and two years ago entered the railroad service with the Atlanta and West Point railway as flagman, which position he still holds.

The killing comes as a great surprise to his many friends here. He is of a good family; his uncle, Dr. J. B. Rutland, was mayor of Lanette, Ala., for

Who Killed L. P. Cox.

Howard Pattillo and George Neely, who were coming into town on a Pine street car, and who heard the shots, jumped out of the car and rushed to the scene. They met Rutland at the door, and took him in charge until the arrival of Officer Berry. As one of the men grabbed for the gun Rutland remarked: "There's nothing in it now." The weapon was a Derringer and of .41 caliber.

J. F. Rice, who is employed in the soda fountain of the theater, tells a graphic tale of the affair. "I was within a few feet of the two men when it happened," he said. "Cox advanced on Rutland with the hatchet, while the latter backed toward the rear of the store. Two shots rang out, and then the men clinched. When Cox fell, Rutland stood with the Derringer pointed at my head, and I dodged down behind the counter for fear of being hit."

Say It Was Self-Defense.
Charles Dougherty, a fireman, stood at the northwest corner of Mitchell and Whitehall, and saw the trouble. He rushed across the street too late to prevent serious consequences. Dr. J. W. Carmichael had just stepped off a car, and saw most of the affair. His version is practically the same as that of others that witnessed the killing, and he says that it was self-defense. Miss Tilda Jones, cashier of the moving picture business, was also a witness, as were also several others.

"I never saw the man before, and hated to shoot him," stated Rutland at the police station. "The trouble was between my brother and Cox, and I do not understand why he should have pursued me. When he struck me I threw up my arm just in time to avert the blow with the hatchet, and as it was he struck me a slight blow on the head."

The trouble is now believed to have grown out of Cox's jealousy for J. W. Rutland. The former is said to have been engaged to marry, the wedding having been set four days from the time of the tragedy. Mrs. Lula Rogers, of White Plains, who has been in the city for some time, is said to have been engaged to Cox.

Inquired About Woman.
John W. Rutland, the man who is supposed to have been the cause of Cox's jealousy, lives at Aragon, where he has business interests. According to Call Officer C. C. Tedder, of the police force, Rutland called him over the phone from Aragon about two months ago, and inquired after a young woman, who, it seems, had been employed at Rutland's store in Aragon. He is said to have told the officer that the woman might be found with Cox at the latter's residence, at 117 1-2 Whitehall street.

According to Rutland's statement to the officer, he was anxious to keep up the woman. After several trips between Aragon and Atlanta, Rutland is said to have told the woman to pack her trunk and leave. L. P. Cox was 57 years old, and unmarried. His business partner was J. B. Prater. He is survived by his step-mother, Mrs. Mary Cox, of Atlantic City, N. J. The body will be sent to Jacksonville, Fla., tonight for funeral and interment.

BUILDINGS WERE BURNED AT WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH

The Ocean View Hotel Was Among the Buildings Destroyed by Flames.

Wilmington, N. C., July 16.—(Special.) A fire broke out this morning about 7:30 a. m., at Wrightsville Beach, and burned several buildings at the extreme south end of the beach, including the Ocean View hotel, the smallest of the three hotels on the beach. The large pleasure pavilion owned by the Tide Water Power Company, was threatened at one time, but by efficient work of the beach fire brigade the building was saved and sustained no damage worth mentioning. The fire is believed to have started in a restaurant adjoining the Ocean View hotel. No lives were lost. A chemical engine from the Wilmington fire department assisted the firemen at the beach, and rendered valuable service.

PROF. EATMAN WAS DROWNED

Boat Was Capsized and Columbia Professor Was Drowned.

Charlotte, N. C., July 16.—Darius Eatman, a professor in Columbia university, New York city, was drowned this afternoon while boating in a pond near Oxford, N. C. Eatman was out for a day's frolic when, in some manner, the boat capsized. Three swam ashore and began preparations to save Eatman, who could not swim. Before sinking the second time an oar was extended him which he grasped with such violence as to jerk it from his rescuer's hands. The body was recovered almost immediately, but efforts to resuscitate him were without avail. Professor Eatman was 33 years old, and is survived by an aged father. He was a graduate of the University of North Carolina and Columbia university, and held the chair of pedagogy in Wake Forest for two years. A few weeks ago he secured the degree of Ph. D. at Columbia in a post-graduate course, and was elected to a professorship.

WANT TO CLOSE COPPER PLANTS

Georgia Legislature Will Be Asked to Take Action.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TALKS

Says He Believes People Living Near Plants Want Them to Continue in Operation—A Shut-Down
Would Put Many People
Out of Jobs.

Blue Ridge, Ga., July 16.—Petitions are in circulation in Fannin, Union, Gilmer and Murray counties asking the legislature to pass a resolution authorizing Attorney General Hart to take a decree at the October term of the United States court shutting down the large copper smelting industries at Ducktown, Tenn., because of alleged damage done crops, land and timber in Georgia by the sulphur fumes.

The petitions, it is expected, will be presented to the legislature tomorrow. In the supreme court one year ago it was decided to grant the copper companies time to do away with the alleged nuisance of sulphur fumes, and thousands have been spent in an effort to convert the sulphur into sulphuric acid. It has been believed for some time that the new process was a success.

Attorney General Talks.

Attorney General Hart has taken no action looking to the shutting down of the Tennessee Copper Company and Ducktown Sulphur Company. He expects the copper companies to carry out their agreement to confine the copper fumes which have been complained of as a nuisance, and believes that one result will be the saving of a vast sum each year to Georgia farmers in the cost of commercial fertilizers.

"From the best information I have been able to gather," said he, "the people living in the neighborhood of the copper companies' plants do not wish these vast enterprises shut down. On the contrary, they wish them to be maintained and to continue operation. They do wish them to confine the copper fumes which prove destructive of vegetation."

"In the litigation affecting this matter I have sought to have the companies convert these fumes, which are destructive, into a by-product that I believe would be of some use, and by the same means avoid all complaints on part of the farmers in north-west Georgia."

"The Tennessee Copper Company has installed within the past year an acid chamber to convert copper fumes into sulphuric acid. This plant, which cost $1,000,000, is now in operation. The Ducktown Sulphur, Copper and Iron Company also installed a plant to make sulphuric acid, but it has not proven a success. They are now proceeding to install one modeled after the plant of the Tennessee Copper Company."

"I look to see the revenue from this by-product equal that from mining and smelting copper. There is a ready market for the product in Georgia. I am informed that an Atlanta firm has recently made a contract for the purchase of 50,000 tons of sulphuric acid from the Tennessee Copper Company, delivery to begin September 1. Suppose the production of this acid should reduce the cost of commercial fertilizers $1 per ton to the farmers of Georgia. It would mean a saving of nearly $1,000,000 annually."

"I look to see this reduction brought about by the Tennessee Copper Company is making 400 to 500 tons of acid per day, and there is a market for it right here in Georgia."

Would Not Deal Harshly.
Judge Hart has followed this case from its very inception, and has represented the state in all the courts in the litigation growing out of it. He appeared twice before the supreme court of the United States, and secured a decision from that court favorable to the state's contention. At the discretion of Georgia, the Ducktown companies will be allowed to continue their operations unless the smoke nuisance is abated.

In explaining the situation, Judge Hart declared there was no purpose to close up the copper companies; that the continued operation of this great industry meant too much to the people of Georgia. He said the legislature had left it to his discretion to pursue such course in the matter as seemed best to him, and he judged that if the legislature was not satisfied with the course he had taken they would adopt a resolution of instructions setting forth their views as to how he should proceed. He said:

"The manufacture of sulphuric acid as a by-product will revolutionize the commercial business in this section. It will do away with the damage to Georgia vegetation and to Georgia streams. On the other hand, if the companies were forced to close down, which could be done under the decree of the supreme court, it would throw 5,000 people out of employment, and cause 20,000 women and children to suffer."

PARADE OF ELKS A SIGHT.

One Man Wore a Hat Over a Yard in Width.

Dallas, Tex., July 16.—Garbed in costumes both unique and typical of the different sections of the country, they represent the various delegations attending the annual reunion of the Elks marched in review today before a throng of cheering onlookers, conceded by all to be the largest assembled in Dallas in many years.

A feature of the parade was a brass band in automobiles, the members of the band being ladies of Dallas, New York lodge No. 1, the pioneer lodge of the organization, marched behind a blood-red banner, and Los Angeles, which city was chosen as the next place of meeting, in spotless white, followed.

Behind a banner borne by two burros, W. A. Ritz, of Walla Walla, Wash., marched with a hat more than a yard wide and in height of proportion. A float representing a river steamer with a crew of roustabouts from Waco, Tex., The Laredo, Tex., delegation was garbed as Mexican hacendados.

No session of the grand lodge was held today, but tomorrow will probably conclude its labors. Among the most important matters to be finally acted upon is the protection and preservation of the elk, a matter carried over from the last convention.

ANDREW J. GOODSON DEAD.

The Deceased Was Postmaster at Union City.

Fairburn, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—Andrew J. Goodson, postmaster at Union City, one mile east of Fairburn, died this afternoon about 4 o'clock, after an illness of only one day. Last afternoon Mr. Goodson had an attack of acute indigestion, which culminated in an apoplectic stroke, which ended his life this afternoon.

Mr. Goodson came last autumn from Smithville, Tenn., and settled with his family at Union City, and aided in the establishment of the town and postoffice at the junction of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic and West Point railroads, and was appointed the first postmaster of the new town. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Misses Carlida and Fannie, and one young son, London, who came with the father to Union City, and also by a married daughter, resident in Tennessee.

Mrs. M. F. Bean, Brunswick, Ga.

Brunswick, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—Mrs. M. F. Bean, a pioneer resident, aged 94 years, passed away this morning.

The way of the transgressor is Lard

The wise housewife specifies Cottolene every time in place of lard. Anyone with a particle of respect for his stomach would prefer a pure vegetable product to one made from the fat of the hog.

Cottolene is always pure; lard isn't.

Cottolene will make more palatable food than lard, and food that any stomach can digest with ease. Lard is a friend of indigestion.

Cottolene is put up in odor-proof, sealed tin pails; most lard comes in bulk, and will absorb any old odor which is near it.

You can prove every word we say by buying and trying a pail of Cottolene. All good grocers sell it; all the great cooking authorities of America recommend it.

CRACKERS LOSE FIRST TO LITTLE ROCK

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Little Rock 3, Atlanta 0.
New Orleans 2, Birmingham 1.

Little Rock, July 16.—(Special.)—With "Pop" Eyer in magnificent form, Little Rock had no trouble in winning from Atlanta today in the first game of the series, touching up Viabahn for three runs in the first three innings, and eventually blanking Smith's men, 3 to 0. While the game was marked by sharp fielding, and was played in fast time, it was the calculated to arouse enthusiasm, as after Little Rock had gained a three-run lead in the early innings, the visitors never threatened to score, but on each reaching second, and none getting to third.

The travelers proceeded to put the game on ice from the start. Collins opened the hostilities by tripping to the club house in center field. Speaker sent Moran to the left field fence after his long fly, and Collins cantered home with the first run of the game. To open the second inning, Viabahn handed Connor a base on balls, and runners went to second on Wells' neat sacrifice, and Stark's out from Jordan to Fox advanced him to third. After Viabahn had put Hess in a hole by slipping over two strikes on him, he smashed to center field, scoring Connor.

Dyer Does Pretty Work.
The third and last tally came in the third. Dyer had robbed Collins of a hit by spearing his drive and tossing him out at first. Speaker laid down a perfect bunt that Dyer and Collins were forced to let go, as they had no chance to cut off their runner at first. Page singled to left, and Speaker raced all the way to center field, and ran in. Moran's failure to field the ball clean allowed Speaker to reach third easily. Becker was thrown out at first by Moran on a slow grounder, Speaker scoring.

Conners singled to left field, but Paige stopped momentarily rounding third, and was finally thrown out at the plate on Moran's perfect throw. After that the chances too were infrequent, and what opportunities there were were lost by poor judgment on the paths.

Atlanta's first hit came in this opening inning. Dyer singled to right field after Moran had gone out. Eyer to Conners. However, Wells flagged Dyer stealing. Moran opened the fourth with a hit to center, but the next three batters flied to Becker.

The only other man to reach first base for the visitors was Jordan, when with but one out in the eighth he hit safely to center. Speaker tried to catch him off first, but he rolled to the fence, and Jordan reached second, but Fox and Castro went out.

Dyer's work at bat was mostly the feature of the otherwise uninteresting game.

MUST NOT CUT PRICES TO STIFLE COMPETITION

A bill by Senator Weaver, of the forty-first district, which is aimed at the Standard Oil Company and all corporations which do not tolerate competition, but stifle all opposition by cut-rate prices, was favorably reported by the house general agricultural committee yesterday afternoon.

This measure prohibits the reduction of prices on all commodities when so reduced for the purpose of driving out competition. There was a lively discussion on the bill, but it was finally adopted by a unanimous vote. It places a penalty upon any one—firm or corporation—which violates this measure. The committee also reported favorably the bill by Mr. Trent, of Heard, to muzzle all dogs, and to make it a misdemeanor to kill a muzzled dog. The bill by Mr. Dean, of Floyd, to make 54 pounds of peaches the standard weight for a bushel, was favorably reported, too.

Special Judiciary Committee.
The special judiciary committee reported favorably the bill to amend the charter of East Point, allowing that city to issue $50,000 with which to install a waterworks system and electric light plant. This committee also reported favorably the measure by Mr. Greer, of Miller, to exempt from punishment the man who sells his vote, and is called to the stand to testify against the man who purchased it.

Appropriations Committee.
Only one appropriation was passed up by the house general appropriation committee, of which Mr. Candler, of DeKalb, is chairman, and that was for $5,000 with which to repair and heat the Georgia Soldiers' home.

WITH THE SOLDIER BOYS AT CAMP WILLIAM H. TAFT

By DICK JEMISON.

Camp W. H. Taft, Lytle, Ga., July 15.—(Special Staff Correspondence.)—The Fifth Regiment band is creating for itself quite a reputation as entertainers. They are giving three concerts a day and at night they play for the benefit of the soldiers who are tired out from their day's work and the pieces tend to keep up the spirits of the boys.

The "grub," as the men call it, is of the best and if any one thinks that the soldiers are suffering along that line they are mistaken, for the mess is on a par with anything yet offered in any camp.

The Macon Volunteers, Company B, Second Infantry National Guard of Georgia, Captain Cooper D. Winn, Jr., First Lieutenant W. G. Burt and Second Lieutenant W. Henry Jones and 43 men have started out in their usual brilliant manner of capturing the orderlies' places, of which they have always had one from their company every day during the encampments. Tuesday they captured both the places and "Orderly and Chicken" is the slogan. The meaning of this is that when the company takes the orderlies' places, the company sets the men up to chicken at dinner the following day.

Major T. J. Kirkpatrick, medical corps, has been appointed chief sanitary officer. Captain J. D. Heysinger, medical corps, assistant sanitary officer. The duties of these officers will be to look after the incinerators in the camp and to inspect the food and drink of the camp in general.

The Lindale Rifles, Company E, Fifth Infantry National Guard of Georgia, Captain H. P. McKelham and 64 men, marched the entire distance from Lindale, Ga., to Camp Taft. The men were in good shape when they marched in

LIGHTNING FIRED BLAST: THREE WERE BADLY HURT

Lightning Struck the Line Before Connection Was Made—Negro Man Will Die.

Rockmart, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—During a thunderstorm here yesterday lightning set off prematurely a blast of the Southern States Cement Company's quarry and seriously hurt the foreman, G. E. Gurly, his son and a negro man. It is believed that Mr. Gurly and his son will recover, but little hope is entertained for the negro man.

The blast is set off at the quarry by the power plant, but on yesterday lightning struck the line before the connection was made.

TRIAL HAS COMMENCED

They Must Face Jury for the Killing of A. Conger.

Tifton, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—The case against Dempsey and Jesse Taylor, indicted jointly for murder, and separately for assault with intent to murder by the grand jury of Tift superior court last week for the killing of A. Conger and the wounding of his sons, Barney and Abe, at Salem church, on Sunday, July 5th, was called in Tift superior court last week for the killing of A. Conger and the wounding of his sons Barney and Abe, at Salem church, on Sunday, July 5th, was called in Tift superior court after the noon recess today.

The Conger brothers had offered a reward of $100 for the arrest of Dempsey and Jesse Taylor before Monday of court week, and they were brought in Friday night by G. S. Nelson, assisted by W. H. Willis, J. Y. Sutton and Dave Silver and turned over to Sheriff Baker and the reward paid.

The defense elected to separate the cases and try Dempsey Taylor, who is said to have done the fatal shooting, first.

Nearly the entire afternoon was spent in securing a jury, three extra panels being exhausted. The taking of evidence began just before adjournment for the night.

The defense is represented by J. H. Tipton, of Sylvester, and W. J. Wallace and George E. Simpson, of Tifton. Solicitor General Thomas is assisted in the prosecution by T. R. Perry, of Sylvester, and Fulwood & Murray, and C. C. Hall, of Tifton.

The case is a hard-fought one, and will probably last through Friday. It is attracting a great deal of interest and the courtroom is crowded almost to suffocation.

Smith and other substantial farmers of this county have petitioned Judge Rawlings for a charter incorporating them as the Farmers' Union Warehouse, Gin and Milling Company. The capital stock of the proposed corporation is $10,000, divided into 2,000 shares at the par value of $5 per share.

WILL SELL LIGHTING PLANT.

It Is Thought That Swainsboro Will Purchase Plant.

Swainsboro, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—Jesse Thompson, who is the sole owner of the electric light plant which furnishes this city with illumination, has declared his intention to discontinue the electric light business on August 4, on which date he has advertised his plant for sale. This plant has been in operation for more than three years and during that time Swainsboro has been one of the best lighted cities in south Georgia, at an exceedingly low figure.

It is not known what action the city will take in the matter, but it is thought that the city will purchase the plant and operate the same itself.

WOMAN BADLY WOUNDED.

Her Husband Tried to Prevent Walker From Shooting Her.

Columbus, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—Gene Walker shot and seriously wounded Sallie Granberry on the Bradley place, five miles from the city, Tuesday. The two, with others, including the husband of the woman, were returning from their work in the evening, when they became involved in a quarrel.

The husband of the woman attempted to stop the quarrel, but Walker pulled his pistol and shot the woman, despite the efforts of her husband to reach him and cut him with a knife in order to prevent him from doing so.

Walker left immediately for parts unknown and has not been heard from since.

MRS. POLHILL DROPPED DEAD

She Was Giving an Entertainment to Friends.

Fitzgerald, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—Mrs. J. H. Polhill died suddenly from heart disease today at 11 a. m. The body will be taken to Augusta for burial. She was a daughter of Dr. Harper, of Augusta, and leaves a husband, one sister and a brother.

The train made a short stop, and the crowd was addressed by Walter Coleman, of Cedartown, in a most happy manner. This is the beginning of a three months' traveling campaign by the Business Men's League.

WOOL GROWERS GET GOOD PRICE

Buyers Met South Georgia and West Florida Growers at Tifton.

Tifton, Ga., July 16.—(Special.)—Wool growers of Colquitt, Irwin, Worth and Tift counties and of west Florida met in Tifton today to sell their wool clip for 1908, and were met here by buyers representing leading export firms of the state.

The clip this year is a little larger than it was last, although there are fewer sheep in the country. In the growers' language, "sheep have done better," and something over 20,000 pounds were sold today, against about 18,000 from the same growers a year ago. In addition to this, there will be shipments from Brookfield and Ty Ty, Ga., and from Bristol, Fla., on the sales made today.

After some spirited bidding, the lot was closed out to J. N. Griffin, of Valdosta, at the round price of 20 cents. Last year Mr. Griffin was also the purchaser, the price paid being 23.80 cents, and the year previous he was for the first time a buyer, paying 28.50 cents.

The sale at Tifton is usually the first in this section of the country, and although sales are largely governed thereby, there will be a sale at Moultrie soon, and another at Irwinville a little later.

THEATERS

At the Casino.

There will be matinee and night performances at the Casino at Ponce de Leon on Friday and Saturday, offering the last opportunities of the Atlanta people to witness the initial exhibition of the wonderful sensation produced by Atrat and DeLoria. This sensational shooting act had its premier in America at the Casino on Monday night and has since served to astonish a multitude of people. At both the matinee and night the balance of the week DeLoria will fire a Springfield rifle bullet through Atrat, breaking an obstacle immediately behind her and producing thrills that simply awe. The supporting bill is bright with comedy and acrobatic novelties and means the last of vaudeville in Atlanta until the opening of the regular season.

Stock Company Soon.

In the city Casino, the one theater where you never mind the dog days, the Baldwin stock company will begin on next Monday evening an engagement that is to continue through the summer.

The first week's offering will be "In the Bishop's Carriage," one of the most charming blends of humor and romance that ever enlivened the stage. Though the Casino has been looked upon as being primarily a vaudeville house, its stage will have been thoroughly adapted by Monday evening to genuine drama and complete scenic productions.

McLENDON DOES NOT ACCEPT VIEWS OF JUDGE KOHLSTADT

Chairman of Railroad Commission Holds Newspapers May Receive Passes for Advertising.

Many Georgia editors had palpitation of the heart when they read in the press dispatches from Chicago yesterday that Judge Kohlstaad had declared there should be no more issuance of railroad passes in exchange for advertising.

The Georgia editors had just planned a trip to Brunswick—with possibly incidental junkies to Fernandina—and they did not relish the idea of having their passes outlawed while they were on their way.

But Chairman McLendon, of the railroad commission of Georgia, with due apologies to Judge Kohlstaad, of the United States circuit court of Chicago, and deep acknowledgement of that gentleman's legal ability, has put a different interpretation on the Hepburn law.

This is the law upon which the Georgia law was modeled. Judge Kohlstaad says there can be no exchange of business between a railroad and a newspaper under this law.

Chairman McLendon holds there is no hanging every man you see because there is a law on the statute books against murder. The commission has decided that when a newspaper enters into a contract with a railroad to furnish so much space for so many miles of transportation, it is a legitimate exchange of values.

Therefore the Georgia editors will go to Brunswick and return home without having to walk any part of the way, unless he lives on the Georgia railroad. That railroad has declined to enter into any contract with newspapers for an exchange of business.

As the result of their attitude a resolution was introduced at the recent meeting of the Georgia Weekly Press Association in Gainesville protesting against holding the next meeting at Milledgeville, because that city is on the line of the Georgia railroad.

Every other railroad in Georgia is making contracts with newspapers upon the strict business basis of so much advertising space for so much transportation. The Georgia railroad commission says this is all right.

PRIEST SEEKS TO STOP STRIKE

Gun Stores at Birmingham Have Sold Out Stock of Firearms.

Birmingham, Ala., July 16.—Rev. Father H. E. O'Grady, priest of St. Catherine's Catholic church and dean of the clergy in the northern part of the Mobile diocese of his church, is heading a committee of clergymen and laymen who will make an effort to bring about arbitration or some other settlement of the coal miners' strike which has been on now two weeks, and which is growing desperate.

Father O'Grady will be assisted by ministers in the coal mining towns only, and will ask an audience before the Furnace and Coal Operators' association. Early morning reports as to the strike situation are to the effect that every hardware and gun store in Birmingham has practically depleted its stock of shotguns and winchesters, and that buckshot shells are being ordered by telegraph. There has been no serious trouble reported so far today, though during last night a number of strike-breakers were brought to the district from adjoining states.

The leaders of the union miners have sent out into the district from headquarters in Birmingham several car loads of provisions for the men on strike. Sheriff Higdon is making personal visits now to the mining camps to inspect the situation and take a look at the deputies on duty. He promised the delegation of miner leaders that he would instruct all deputies not to commit overt acts, and to give both sides a fair deal. W. R. Fairley, Alabama member of the national executive board of United Mine Workers, says that he will call the attention of the postmaster general of the United States to the fact that citizens cannot receive their mail in their respective communities where the strike is on, because many postoffices are either in company stores or on company property, and the trespassing warnings and deputies watching the roads prevent them going to the places. The furnace and coal operators hold their meetings almost daily at the noon hour.

CONVICT LEASE WAS DEBATED

Opening Skirmish of Battle in House

AROUSED OVER THE QUESTION

Mr. Holder, of Jackson, spoke for the bill drawn by Subcommittee—Judge Covington, of Colquitt, denounced the Lease System.

Objection to leasing the convicts of the state developed on all sides yesterday morning when the Holder convict measure was offered and a decided tendency, if to lease at all, to limit to one year the lease and by that means throw the question, for final settlement upon the next administration with its new legislature. At 1 o'clock the house adjourned to meet this morning at 9 o'clock.

Only two speeches were made during the session. The first was by Mr. Holder, of Jackson, the author of the measure, who offered an amendment which will reduce the proposed lease from five years to one year; provided for a separation of the races by work; the white convicts on the state farm, near Milledgeville, and other humane reforms.

The other speech was by Mr. Covington, of Colquitt, one of the ablest and most entertaining of speakers in the house, who spoke for an hour on the subject offered, with him as one of the authors, which provided for a constitutional amendment abolishing for all time the leasing of convicts and which authorizes a bond issue of $750,000 with which to purchase farm lands, supply it with live stock, implements and the like, on which the 3,000-odd convicts in Georgia are to be worked. He had the floor when the house adjourned.

House Deeply Interested. The intensest and attention which the house is paying to the speakers and the problem under consideration shows that every member is deeply interested and a majority will have speeches to make on the measure, its merits, its amendments, and its probable substitutes. In order that debate might be "free and unlimited" the house was resolved into a committee of the whole, where the speaker may have no fear of the gavel, for in the committee, debate is unlimited.

It will probably be the middle of next week, unless some happy compromise is suggested, before a vote on the question of abolishing the convict lease system in Georgia may be taken.

That there is opposition to leasing the convicts was evidenced by Mr. Holder, who declared, early in his speech, that he was opposed to leasing the convicts but that to lease them for a short time was the only solution of the matter as he saw it at present.

He declared the state reformatory a failure and advocated, as far as possible, working the convicts on the state roads. He was repeatedly interrupted but handled his subject well.

Judge Covington in Action. Judge Covington followed. As a speaker he has few, if any, superiors in the house. When he begins to talk the house sits up and takes notice. This is a question which appeals to him, as it does to all, most strongly. All of his oratorical ability was brought into full play. He appealed to the sentiment of his hearers, he painted with words a picture of the camp life, the beating of the convicts and worked the house up to a considerable pitch.

With the orator's skill he mixed wit with wisdom and eased the house off when it became too tense in its attention.

A very few times was he interrupted, but those few questions were answered with ease and alacrity.

He declared the prison commission was being attended to as well as it could be by men who were doing this work for $2,000 a year and as a side line. He said he did not wish to make an attack upon any one but simply stated facts.

He made a strong plea for the farm system as advocated by the measure he introduced, declaring the "state farm" was self-sustaining; that Mississippi made $100,000 on its farm last year and that "leasing should be abolished as a relic of reconstruction days."

He paid his respects to those who had grown rich through handling convicts at $11.20 a year, $50 a year, and finally at $102 a year, and who had secured for their hire as high as $500 a year.

He was warning us to his subject when the hour of adjournment arrived.

Routine in the House. The first business done by the house was to pass a bill and a resolution by Mr. Burwell of Hancock. The first amended the act creating the city court of Sparta; the other was a resolution to pay Tax Collector A. M. Hutchinson, of Hancock, $201 for commissions due him, but by oversight not reported when his returns were made.

Upon the unanimous request of the general judiciary committee, Mr. Wright of Richmond, chairman of that committee, secured unanimous consent to introduce a bill by Mr. Slade of Muscogee, which perfects the disfranchisement amendment so that it takes effect on January 1, 1909, and not immediately as the bill now provides. In order to avoid all difficulties, the entire disfranchisement measure as passed last year was introduced, with the amendment as to time, and read for the first time.

To Probe Prison Board. Mr. Candler of DeKalb introduced a resolution calling for the house to take up, at once, the Prison board resolution calling for an investigation of the prison commission, its officers, employees, and the leases. It was referred to the committee upon rules.

Mr. Candler followed this with comment on the report of the house proceedings of Wednesday as they appeared in The Atlanta Georgian. In that paper, he said, the speaker had been intimidated to be unfair as between him and Mr. Hall in regard to disposal of their resolutions. He declared the speaker was correct, and said the intimidation did the speaker an injustice due to the misapprehension of the reporter in regard to parliamentary procedure.

Mr. Hall followed, and paid the speaker a high tribute for his fairness. He declared the reporters were in the house by courtesy of the house, and if such misquotations appeared again he would take steps to see that it is impossible.

Mr. Slade of Muscogee closed the incident with a laugh by saying: "Mr. Speaker, I've been following that paper recently, and you'll have to make pretty broad allowance for it."

Convict Bill Up. Mr. Holder of Jackson called up his "convict bill" next, which was set for a special order.

Reading Clerk McClatchey read both the original and substitute; the latter was taken up, as printed in full in The Constitution.

The house resolved itself into a committee of the whole, with Mr. Dunbar of Richmond in the chair, and unlimited debate began.

A flood of amendments flowed up to the desk, and were read. The chief amendments were: To limit the time of lease from five to one year; a personal inspection of the state and system so to do. He took up each feature of the system in detail. He declared the "state reformatory" at Milledgeville was a failure.

He declared the races should be separated, as provided in his measure. He said that this separation was provided by an amendment which places all the white convicts on the state farm, near Milledgeville.

"Good roads," he continued, "is our aim in Georgia. We want to put all, not leased, on the public roads, and ultimately want to put them all on the public roads."

"We want the counties to take all they want to work on the roads first, and then the rest."

At 11:50 o'clock Mr. Holder concluded, and more amendments and substitutes were offered.

That of Candler of DeKalb, Burwell of Hancock, Alexander of DeKalb, etc., was read. It provides for prohibition forever the leasing of convicts; proposes a bond issue of $750,000 to purchase farm lands, live stock, implements, etc., on which the convicts are to be worked.

Mr. Covington's Speech. Mr. Covington of Colquitt got the floor next. He is a splendid and versatile speaker, and at attention while he had the floor. He declared the question was the paramount one of the session; that it was not one to regulate cattle, dealing with mules or with a financial problem, but one of human dignity and of "brotherhood."

He declared he was ready to submit to the people of Georgia a solution of the convict question which he knew was the solution—i. e. to issue $750,000 in bonds to purchase farm lands, implements, etc. He declared the lease system was a relic of "reconstruction days," when a federal general leased out to private individuals, forty years ago, the convicts of Georgia. He declared the present system was all wrong, when three men are hired for $2,000 a year, not only to handle the finances accruing from the hire of these convicts, but their immortal souls, and as a side issue, too.

"The people, I tell you, don't want this 'blood money.'"

He declared Mississippi has bought farm lands and adopted the system of farms, and with only 1,300 convicts, made $100,000 last year.

Mr. Covington suspended at 12:55 o'clock to allow the committee to report progress and ask leave to sit again.

New Bills in House. The following new bills were introduced in the house:

By Mr. Blackburn of Fulton—To appropriate $5,000 for repairs on the Soldiers' home.

By Mr. Ballard of Newton—To establish a public school system for Mansfield, Ga.

By Mr. Davidson of Greene—To pay J. W. Turner $250, a refund for bond.

By Mr. Buchanan of Early—To regulate the profession of piano tuning and appoint a board of examiners for piano tuners for Georgia.

BANK BUREAU BILL. ALMOST PERFECTED. The banking committee of the senate held another meeting on yesterday morning for the purpose of perfecting the Deen banking bureau bill. Joseph A. McCord vice president of the Third National bank, was present, and made several suggestions to the committee. The bill, according to the report of the committee, has about been perfected, and no doubt will be submitted to the senate at an early date for their consideration.

Senator Deen is still of the opinion that his deposit insurance bill should become a law, but stated that he was willing for the other bill to be passed with the amendments without his insurance bill, though he was unwilling for the insurance bill to pass without the bank bureau bill.

All of the amendments will be introduced by Senator Howard, which, under the name of Senator Deen, will be submitted as a substitute to his original measure.

HOWARD SCHOOL BILL. FAVORABLY REPORTED. The senate committee on education held an interesting meeting yesterday morning, reporting the Howard school bill favorably.

The bill by Senator Howard, "To revise the general school law, so as to change the state board of education; to provide for a state superintendent of public instruction, instead of a state school commissioner. The board to consist of the governor of the state, the attorney general, the state superintendent of public instruction and six citizens," was considered by the committee, and by their action was returned to the senate with recommendation that it do pass.

Professor Wootter, of the State Normal school, appeared before the committee, and spoke in favor of the measure. It is understood that the committee will ask that the bill be recommitted, in order that certain amendments may be added.

That the limit of appropriations for the sessions of the general assembly for 1908 and 1909 has been reached has been made evident by the statement of Chairman Murphy Candler of the house committee on appropriations when he exhibited his books, showing that there are pending applications for $576,779.53, when the net revenue of the state for the year of 1908 over expenses and appropriations already made is only $46,750.00.

A Hard Problem. The problem therefore for the committee on appropriations to solve is how to divide $46,750 between applicants for $576,779.53, and satisfy each applicant.

"Appropriations for 1909, already made, including increase in common school fund, and diversion of fertilizer inspection fees under act of 1906, to district agricultural schools, aggregate $4,941,500, a sum $165,000 in excess of the regular net estimated revenue for 1909. It will be seen that the appropriations already made for 1909 have anticipated a material increase in the property tax returns for 1909.

"Without such increase, or new sources of tax revenue, or unestimated revenue from litigated sources, a deficit of $165,000 would be created. The state cannot borrow in excess of $200,000 for casual deficiencies. It follows, therefore, that the limit of appropriations for this session of the general assembly has been reached, both for 1908 and 1909."

Mother Eddy 87 Years Old. Newton, Mass., July 16.—Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder and head of the Christian Scientist church, today reached her eighty-seventh year, but beyond congratulations from members of her household and officials of the church, there was no observance of the event. Mrs. Eddy is reported in good health, and maintains the same routine which governed her life at Concord, N. H., during the past several years.

WILKES LASHES ANDY CARNEGIE

Senator From Seventh Paid Respects to the Laird of Skibbo.

At the session of the senate yesterday morning appropriation bills giving the University of Georgia $10,000 for the remodeling of Old college at Athens and $5,000 for the equipping of the Carnegie library at the Georgia School of Technology were passed. During the debate over the appropriation bill for Carnegie library, Senator Wilkes, of the second district, made many sensational statements concerning Andrew Carnegie. He declared that he was not opposed to the Georgia School of Technology, but that he was opposed to voting for any measure which bore the name of Andrew Carnegie. He charged that Mr. Carnegie was the head of the steel and iron trust, and that whenever a farmer bought a plow, that he paid tribute to Carnegie. In a dramatic conclusion Senator Wilkes said: "I cannot stultify myself, nor disgrace my constituency, by voting for any measure which bears the infamous name of Andrew Carnegie."

Tag Bill a Special Order. The Martin tag tax bill, by the action of the senate, was made a special order for next Tuesday, at which time the senate will go on record as to their disposition in reference to agricultural education in the state.

The Shaw resolution calling for an investigation of the charges of the penitentiary committee by a joint committee from the senate and house passed the senate, but Senator Peacock notified the senate that it was his purpose to move to reconsider the action of the senate at the proper time. This will delay for one day the return of the resolution to the house for its concurrence in two senate amendments.

Senator Peacock stated that he was in favor of the investigation being made, but that he opposed the resolution because he thought that the resolution of Senator Fielder was better than that of Mr. Shaw.

Routine in the Senate. The senate was called to order by President Pro Tem. Steed. The special orders for the day were considered immediately after the confirmation of the journal.

To the repair of Old college at the University of Georgia for a dormitory, the senate appropriated $10,000. This bill was opposed by Senators Walden and Knight on the ground that the public school teachers should be paid first.

Senator Crittenden objected to the teachers of the state being referred to as "the poor school teachers." He said that he was born on credit, and that he wished that the state could borrow $500,000 instead of a less amount. He urged the appropriation, contending that the common schools were dependent upon the state university. The bill passed with only five dissenting votes.

The next special order was the appropriation of $5,000 to complete the Carnegie library at the Georgia School of Technology. The bill passed by a vote of 31 to 5.

The first speaker on this measure, Senator Wilkes, made many sensational statements concerning Andrew Carnegie. He declared that he was not opposed to the Georgia School of Technology, but that he was opposed to voting for any measure which bore the name of Andrew Carnegie. He charged that Mr. Carnegie was the head of the steel and iron trust, and that whenever a farmer bought a plow, that he paid tribute to Carnegie. Senator Howard and Camp defended the bill, and spoke in high terms of the liberality of Mr. Carnegie.

Senator Martin spoke in highest terms of the Technological school, and declared that he was in favor of "wiping out Latin and Greek" from the curriculum of the colleges of the state. He declared that the gift of $20,000 to the Tech library had been given unconditionally by Mr. Carnegie, and that it would be a disgrace if the state failed to equip the institution for effective service.

Several other unimportant matters were discussed, and the Boyd good roads bill, and the house Martin tag tax bill were made special orders for Tuesday.

The Shaw Resolution. The resolution of Mr. Shaw of Clay, calling for an investigation of the charges against the prison commission and warden of convict camps, etc., with two amendments calling for a report to be made before the close of the present session, and providing that the investigating committee shall consist of five from the house and three from the senate, was adopted with only one dissenting vote.

Senator Peacock opposed the resolution, because he thought the resolution of Senator Fielder, as amended, covered the ground more fully.

Roy Bowden and Three Companions Arraigned in Police Court.

Bowden Did Writing. Roy Bowden, Charlie Reese, Seab Johnson and George Thompson, four youths, were arraigned in the recorder's court yesterday morning on the charge of writing obscene words on a wall at the corner of Marietta and Means streets.

Bowden said that he was the one who wrote on the wall. The other boys drew pictures that were not obscene.

Recorder Broyles gave Bowden a searching lecture, telling him that he would do better if he went out and knocked somebody down or stole something than to write amatty, dirty words where ladies and little girls could see them.

Bowden was fined $15.75, and the other boys $5.75 each.

CAR ROBBERS ARE ARRESTED

The Gang Were Supplying Restaurants and Stores With Stolen Goods.

Pensacola, Fla., July 16.—One of the best organized and most successful gangs of freight car robbers and wholesale grocery operators ever to operate in Pensacola was unearthed by the police last night and eleven negroes landed in jail, one probably fatally wounded by an officer's bullet, while wagon-loads of groceries were recovered and hauled to the police station.

The gang, which is composed of employees or drivers of wholesale grocery houses, were supplying restaurants and stores with stolen goods. Last night a raid was made upon a restaurant operated by a negro who formerly served many years as head-waiter at a leading hotel. There was found large quantities of butter, lard, beer, whisky, champagne, etc. Following this clue the police arrested proprietors of two negro stores and found these stores filled with goods stolen, and which Louisville and Nashville officers had been endeavoring to trace for months.

POOR MAN FEEDING FREE ONE HUNDRED MEN DAILY

New York, July 16.—One hundred men a day are being fed free of cost by John Morgan, himself a poor workman, at No. 102 Christopher street, and so quietly that not even residents of the neighborhood have known what was going on. Every evening at 7 o'clock scores of hungry men out of employment appear in groups of eight or ten, and for a full hour they come and go, crowding the small room to its full capacity. Every man helps himself to soup and bread and coffee without stint, and he is at liberty to obtain his breakfast and dinner there for a reasonable time, until he shall have a chance to work. Mr. Morgan has been carrying on the work on a small scale for the last two or three years, but the demands on him have increased so that his accommodations are now taxed to their full capacity. He has no money, and has had no operation in his work for his daughter, who helps him to pay the rent, while he collects food for his proteges as best he can. The expense of renting suitable accommodations is divided between them, and for their provisions, they largely depend on the bounty of bakers, butchers and grocers, among whom Mr. Morgan makes his rounds at 5 o'clock every morning.

FAILURE TO PAY 10 CENTS BRINGS SUIT FOR $5,000

Roma, Ga., July 16.—(Special).—An important suit for damages was filed against the city of Rome Tuesday by A. H. Landrum, through his attorneys, Dean & Dean and Judge Max Meyerhardt. The suit is the outcome of a charge of 10 cents costs for failure to pay street tax promptly. In the petition the plaintiff states that he was arrested in October of last year by Officer McCallin and placed in the lockup of the city because he refused to pay an additional 10 cents assessed him by the city for not paying his street tax before the books were closed up. He asserts that he went to the office of Clerk Cantrell and offered to pay his street tax, amounting to $2, and that

PELLAGRA EXISTS IN SOUTH DUE TO EATING CORN BREAD

Milan, July 16.—An American physician, James Woods Babcock, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Columbia, S. C., has succeeded in solving the question which has been under investigation for a long time as to whether the disease pellagra, common among the peasants in Italy and the south of Europe, exists in the United States. Dr. Babcock, who has been aided in his researches by the Italian authorities, has proved that the Italian pellagra and a disease common in the southern states having almost identical symptoms are one and the same.

The disease pellagra, which is also called Italian leprosy, Alpine scurvy, and Asturian rose, is accompanied by a reddening of the skin and sometimes a hypertrophy of the skin and marked mental symptoms, and it is

NEW HEARING ON RATE RAISE

Railroad Commission Invites Shippers to Give Information.

Before making up its decision what action to take in regard to the increase in freight rates from Ohio and Trans-Mississippi points, which will go into effect August 1, the railroad commission of Georgia wishes more light on the subject.

At the meeting called for Tuesday morning to discuss this matter only two representatives of Georgia shippers were present. They were Harry L. Moore, traffic manager of the Atlanta freight bureau, and George L. Carson, of the board of trade of commerce.

Mr. Moore stated that the hearing, which was attended by a score of railroad men, was not called upon the motion of the Atlanta freight bureau.

If the increased rates on meat, flour and grain are viewed as unreasonable and excessive by the railroad commission of Georgia, they may appear before the interstate commerce commission and protest against the rates being continued.

Before this is done, however, Chairman McLendon and the members of the Georgia board wish to secure all possible evidence bearing upon the increase; both as to the effect upon the shipper and the roads. From the latter's standpoint, the increase in the cost of operation and other charges must be considered in deciding whether or not a rate is unreasonable.

Judge George Hillier was appointed a committee of one to make a tentative investigation of this subject of rate increase and suggest what course the committee should pursue. He advised a hearing of all parties interested. When the date for the hearing arrived, the railroad representatives were the only ones who had anything to say.

The commission declares it is evident the public mind has not yet taken hold of the importance of the situation involved. A further hearing is, therefore, called for Thursday, July 23, at 10 a. m., in the office of the commission.

The order also notes that at a meeting held in Louisville, Ky., attended by managers of various railroads, a further increase over those already announced on flour, grain and packing house products was contemplated. If the commission, after full hearings, shall decide that the increased rates are unjust to Georgia shippers, taking into consideration the proper interest of the railroads, they will protest to the interstate commerce commission. The increase, since it affects interstate business, cannot be acted upon by the Georgia commission.

HE SWORE THAT NEAR BEER MADE HIM VERY DRUNK

Joe Cronin Arrested for Protracted Spree—Said He Drank Only Near Beer.

"Can near beer cause intoxication?" That is a very momentous question in police circles just now. The articles branded "near beer" are said to be non-intoxicating, and they are classified by the vendors as "soft drinks."

In the police court yesterday morning Joe Cronin, a young white man, was arraigned for being drunk. It was arraigned for being drunk. It was arraigned for being drunk. It was arraigned for being drunk.

At the request of his friends Cronin was sent to the Tower on the charge of vagrancy in the hope that confinement for six months will give him a chance to reform and prevent him from drinking even near beer.

The recorder asked Cronin where he got his whisky. Cronin replied: "The only thing I drank was near beer."

Cronin swore to that statement. "There must be some kind of beer that produces intoxication, remarked the recorder. "If this man Cronin has told the truth."

At the request of his friends Cronin was sent to the Tower on the charge of vagrancy in the hope that confinement for six months will give him a chance to reform and prevent him from drinking even near beer.

JUDGE HINES NOT DECIDED

Didn't Want to Talk About Report He Would Stump for Watson.

Judge James K. Hines said yesterday, when asked about the statement that he would take the stump in Georgia in behalf of the candidacy of Thomas E. Watson for president, that he had not definitely decided what course he would pursue in the matter.
The report that he would take the stump in his behalf came direct from Mr. Watson himself. Judge Hines was informed by a representative of The Constitution.

"It would be a very graceful thing for Georgia to compliment Mr. Watson with her electoral vote," was Judge
Hines' reply.
"Do you intend to support Mr. Watson in this campaign?" was asked.
"I would prefer not to discuss that matter in the papers at the present time," Judge Hines answered.

S. B. TURMAN & CO.

"OLD-FASHIONED" is a much misused and abused and generally overworked term, which should be retired from the active list by the dictionary-makers and enjoy a well-earned rest for the balance of time. "Iconoclastic doctrine," you say.
Maybe, but we've another name for it—Progress. In the phrase
"Old-fashioned honesty" and such like, the words are loosely a misnomer and specifically an anachronism, since there are no fashions in fundamental ethics, and they are the same today as when the sum of human society was two individuals; and, from a materialistic point of view and in accord with the laws of nature, when a better thing is evolved its predecessor becomes obsolete and words to describe it no longer of use. The Loose-leaf is rapidly supplanting other systems of accounting. It meets every known need and saves money.
If it ever becomes old-fashioned, we'll drop the system and the words, too. This talk aside, let us show you today.
